Sheriff says

Marijuana growing season underway

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

As farmers throughout the county are watching their vegetables grow, law enforcement officers are keeping a sharp eye out for illegal crops of marijuana.

Marijuana is ranked among the best of agriculture crops in Hancock County.

"Unfortunately, Hancock County is an area where marijuana grows quite well," Sheriff Ronald Peterson said.

"And money-wise, marijuana is worth more than any other crop," he said.

Every year beginning in the spring there is a big increase in marijuana growth here, Peterson added.

Thursday the sheriff's department seized 113 marijuana plants ranging in size from one to two feet in a field off the Texas Flat Road.

Peterson said this is the third seizure of marijuana plants, this season. Others were taken from a residence on Borgey Drive in Bay St. Louis and from a field off Grapevine Road in the National Space Technology Laboratories Buffer Zone.

"There are numerous plants grown in wooded areas of the county and we know it will be a problem throughout the summer," he added.

"We spend a lot more time in wooded areas during the summer months," Peterson said.

Many of the marijuana fields are spotted by people just walking through the woods and see it growing, he said.

Peterson also said the State Highway Patrol helicopter has been used in the last several years to detect marijuana fields.

But due to recent state-level budget cuts, Peterson said he did not think this helicopter would be available for use this year.

"We will continue to put a strong emphasis on trying to find the marijuana fields and apprehend the violators," he added.

According to Peterson if a marijuana field is large enough, law enforcement officers began surveillance of the field to catch the growers as they tend to the plants.

"We expect to find many more marijuana fields throughout the summer," he said.

Peterson said last year there were 25-30 arrests in connection with cultivation of marijuana and several other fields were detected and destroyed but there were no associated arrests.

Detection of the marijuana fields is becoming more difficult due to the "sophistication" some growers are acquiring, he said.

Some growers are using camouflage to hide the illegal plants and others are planting the marijuana among other crops to prevent it from being detected.

Peterson said some growers do not realize that cultivating marijuana is a felony in this state and carries a maximum sentence of three years in the state penitentiary and a $5,000 fine.

Two arrested for burglary of residence

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Two Hancock County residents have been charged in connection with the burglary of a Diamondhead residence.

Yury Hernandez, 18, of 1212 Russell Dr., Waveland was charged with burglary.

A Waveland juvenile arrested in connection with the incident was turned over to Hancock County Youth Court authorities, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay.

A television set, microwave oven, speakers, lamps and other household items were taken June 4 from the residence of Herschel Meares on Kipapa Way in Diamondhead, he said.

Seay added that some of the items have been recovered.

Yury was released from the Hancock County Jail on a $5,000 bond.

PULLS PLANT—Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson pulls a marijuana plant in a wooded area off the old Logtown Road several years ago. Hancock Criminal Investigator Glen Strong was assisting Peterson who reports 1986 may be a banner year for marijuana production in Hancock County, as three large marijuana crops have been destroyed already this summer by his department. Hancock County man charged with drunken driving 7th time

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

George W. Anderson Jr. of Waveland was arrested Saturday, June 21 and received his seventh charge for driving under the influence of alcohol.

This most recent charge stemmed from an accident early Friday morning on Lower Bay Road near St. Ann's Church.

Anderson, 40, of 721 Old Spanish Trail, was eastbound in a 1980 Ford on the wrong side of the road when he struck a 1976 Lincoln Continental driven by Rodney J. Boden, Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said.

Boden, 29, of 15800 Van Eaton Circle, Biloxi was reported to be uninjured in the accident and left the scene.

However he was later admitted to Biloxi Regional Medical Center complaining of neck and back pains.

Boden said Saturday morning in a telephone interview, he expected to be released later that afternoon.

Anderson was transported by Mobile Medic to Memorial Hospital in Gulfport but later transferred to Gulf Coast Community Hospital.

He was released from the hospital Saturday morning.

In addition to the DUI charge, Anderson was also charged with the Fire destroys Pearlington home

By DENA BISNETTE

Lightning has been determined to be the cause of a fire that destroyed a weekend home on Riverside Drive in Pearlington and damaged an adjacent structure.

According to Hancock County Fire Marshall Jay Marsh, the fire apparently started during a Thursday afternoon lightning storm.

According to Randy Fraley of the West Hancock Volunteer Fire Department, lightning apparently struck two trees next to the house and traveled down the branches into the structure.

The fire was reported at 1:45 p.m. by a neighbor who said he had heard the blast that caused the blaze, Fraley said.

West Hancock volunteers were assisted in fighting the flames by Clermont Harbor, BaySide Park and East Hancock volunteer firefighters and members of the Waveland and Bay St. Louis fire departments.

Additional help was needed after the wood frame home on pilings collapsed causing the flames to endanger two nearby residences. One residence directly to the left of the destroyed home had exterior wall damages.

Fraley said the destroyed home's occupant, Oscar A. Wolfe, told firefighters he had left the building only about 20 minutes before the fire started.

The owners of the damaged home, also a weekend residence, were also away when the fire occurred.

No one was reported injured while fighting the fire, West Hancock Volunteer Clem Delacroix said.

Also assisting at the scene was a crew from Coast Electric Power Company and deputies from the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Waveland approves joining association of cities, counties

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Waveland Board of Aldermen has voted to join other coastal cities and counties in establishing a group known as Gulf Coast Council of Governments.

The board approved joining the association Wednesday by a unanimous vote. The council is being organized as a voluntary, cooperative association of coastal counties and municipalities. It is designed to share resources and to provide opportunities for discussion and planning regarding matters of mutual concern to its members.

Waveland and other cities which decide to become part of the organization will be represented on its council by their mayors and one city board member each. Counties are to be represented by the president of their boards of supervisors and either their administrators or chancery clerks.

The association will also include state representatives and senators, who will serve as ex-officio voting members of the council, and non-voting members from port authorities, port commissions, planning commissions, development commissions, regional planning commission, tourism commissions and similar boards.

In other business Wednesday, the board:

—Recognized workers who have provided the city street department with 20 or more years of service;

—Discussed but took no action on proposals for the city's 1988 centennial celebration; and —Approved hiring a computer consultant to determine what type of computer system would be most appropriate for city use.

The board meets again at 7:30 p.m. July 1.

Section of Bay garbage collection days to change

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The garbage collection days for the section of Bay St. Louis bordered by the Railroad, St. Charles Street, Old Spanish Trail, and Bookter Streets will change from Mondays to Tuesdays and Thursdays to Fridays. Notices were left for residents of the area of change last week, according to Paul Montejoy of Gulf Coast Waste and Disposal.

"The main reason for making the day of collection changes in this particular area, is to enable our company complete collections on a more timely basis," Montejoy stated.

It will give more balance on the routes by the collectors, Montejoy added.

Montejoy requested residents to have their garbage out early in the morning, as the new changes will enable collectors to begin in the area at 7 a.m.

Montejoy said garbage collection days will remain the same for the rest of Bay St. Louis.

Peterson said witnesses had seen Shelton standing by his car and when they returned approximately 10 minutes later, he was lying in front of the vehicle.

A .357-magnum handgun was also found near the body, authorities reported.

HOUSING PRICES UP AND DOWN

Question: I have accepted a job on the East Coast and will be moving this fall. I am afraid I will not be able to afford much housing due to the higher cost. Can you tell me what housing prices have done in recent months? A.M., Jackson

Answer: Dear A.M.: The specific answer to your question would of course depend on the city where you are moving as well as the neighborhood within that city.

As you know, prices vary greatly from location to location.

However, in more general terms, recent information compiled by the Federal Home Bank Board shows that housing prices are still on the upswing but the increase continues to be only marginal.

In the previous 12 months, the average price of both new and existing housing increased less than three percent. In 32 markets surveyed, the average price of homes rose only $2,600—from $88,000 to $90,600.

What you may find interesting about the study is that while prices in eight of the cities increased more than 10 percent, those in 15 markets actually declined during the past 12 months. The steepest decline was registered in Houston where the average price fell 11 percent, from $102,900 to $91,600.

Honolulu regained its claim to fame as the nation's most expensive place to buy a house. Prices there jumped 30.4 percent in the last year, from $116,000 to $151,300.

refusal to take a breath-inhalator test and driving on the wrong side of the road, police said.

Anderson's past convictions of drunken driving include Feb. 1, 1976, Dec. 28, 1983, Jan. 5, 1984, Nov. 5, 1984 and Feb. 23, 1985.

He was acquitted of manslaughter charges following a July 17, 1982 four-vehicle traffic accident which resulted in the death of Amanda B. Carter, a Bay St. Louis school teacher on the US-90 Bay of St. Louis Bridge.

Anderson, charged first with driving under the influence, was later charged with manslaughter.

In a May 1984 manslaughter trial held in Harrison County on Carter's death, a jury did not find that evidence presented proved "willful and wanton disregard for human life."

Ryan Marine completing its first US contract

Hancock yard upgrading
Coast Guard bouy tender

BY DENA BISNETTE

Ryan Marine at Port Bienville Industrial Park in Hancock County is working on its first federal contract job—renovation of the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter White Pine.

The White Pine will remain at the industrial park through the end of June for maintenance work, Ryan Marine President Ralph Ryan said. Ryan Marine, a firm which has been located at Port Bienville for only one year, will repair the ship's boom, fire mains, pipes and other equipment while the White Pine crew paints and repairs the vessel's superstructure.

Ryan said he had to bid to obtain the federal contract and that he hopes it is "the first of many."

According to Bosun Mate Chief R.G. Dudley, the ship is equipped with the boom for its work as a bouy tender along the Gulf Coast from Waveland to St. Marks, Fla.

The 600-ton, 133-foot White Pine is one of three cutters the Coast Guard has assigned for coastal bouy tending. The ship is a converted U.S. Navy vessel originally built in 1942 and assigned to the Coast Guard in 1946. It carries a 25-man crew.

Mobile, Ala. has been its designated home port since 1976.

"The unique thing about this ship is its ability to work in any depth of water," Dudley said. "We can do the same work as a larger ship with a 60-foot crew in deep water but we can also work in shallow water where they can't go."

The White Pine is capable of working in water as shallow as eight feet, he added.

The vessel is also equipped with support beams similar in use to the support structures on an offshore drilling rig. The structures are lowered into the mud on the ocean floor to help keep the ship steady when it works in deep water, then raised when the White Pine needs to move.

The vessel's crew, whose commanding officer is Commander Donald L. Vincent, both replaces old marker bouys with new ones and maintains those which do not need replacement.

One of the more recent maintenance chores assigned to the White Pine has been replacement of batteries in solar-powered bouys.

The ship is scheduled to receive the type of maintenance being provided by Ryan Marine once every two years, Dudley said.

The White Pine is not expected to return to Port Bienville next year because 1987 is when its drydock maintenance is scheduled and Ryan does not have that type of facility.

The ship may return the following year if Ryan is again the successful bidder.

According to Dudley, the ship's crew is pleased with Ryan's facilities.

"When we got here, everything was already in place. We can't say that about some of the other places we've been," he explained.

"The only thing we could have asked for was a pay phone, and had we known there was not one already here, it might have been arranged. This is a nice clean facility with good parking and good transportation."

Another reason the Hancock County facility pleases the crew, Dudley said, is that most of the men are from various cities along the Gulf Coast. Their addresses range from Texas to Florida and Dudley himself is from Pascagoula.

"Usually in the military you find people from all over the country, but the Coast Guard is something of an exception because it typically attracts people who have spent most of their lives along a coastline somewhere," he said.

Ryan said that although he plans to continue doing most of his jobs for private contractors, he hopes to obtain more federal contracts as well because he sees them as being good for the local economy.

Ryan Marine is now certified for new ship construction measuring up to 300 feet for the US Navy.

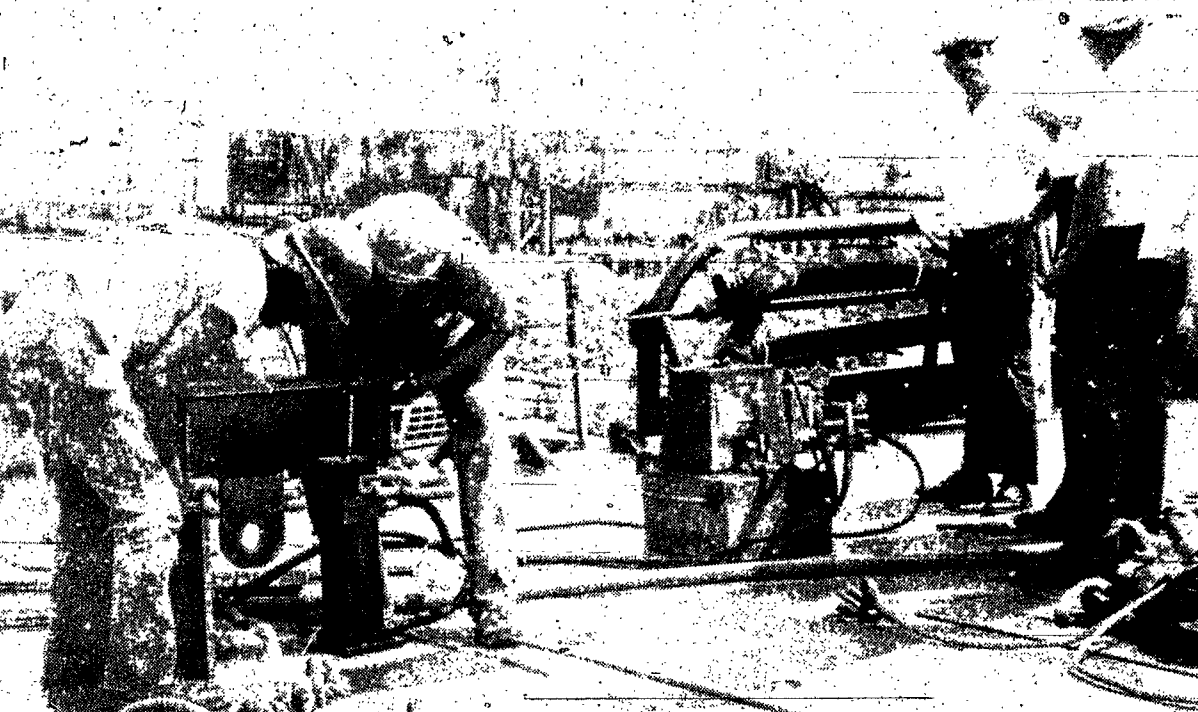

"We're limited by the channel in what we can do," Ryan explained. "My concern is the channel here. It's not deep enough to allow us to bid on deep draft ships."

He said he hopes to be able to discuss deepening the channel at Port Bienville with the US Army Corps of Engineers, which regulates dredging of wetland areas.

"One of our problems in deepening the channel is that there is not much traffic here right now, but if we can do it, it will also benefit other industries like Hancock Terminal," Ryan added.

The Hancock County Food Pantry has now been in operation for a month and has been providing a very important need for our county.

Numerous families in need of food on an emergency basis have been aided by the Food Pantry.

The organization is sponsored by churches, individuals, organizations and businesses of the county.

Leontine C. DeRocha and Inna Piazza are the chief administrators, and are among the people who really pushed for the formation of such an organization for our county. They now report there is a need for a refrigerator, freezer or both.

The organization does not have a way to store perishable foods at its location in the old Valena C. Jones School building, Old Spanish Trail and Bookter Street in Bay St. Louis.

If you have a used refrigerator or freezer and would like to donate it to a very good cause, give Mrs. DeRocha a call at 467-2790, Monday, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, 9 a.m. to noon.

Those are also the hours the Food Pantry is open, and it is manned by volunteers from the county's churches and Retired Senior Volunteer Program.

The primary purpose of the Food Pantry is to feed people of Hancock County in an emergency, such as from the interruption of someone's income through loss of job, fire, disruption in the home, illness or other valid reason.

Referrals are made by the Welfare Department, Board of Health, priests and ministers and organizations.

This is just a temporary source of supplemental aid for several days.

The Hancock County Food Pantry is a chartered non-profit organization and is operated by donations from churches, individuals, businesses, and organizations.

Several community churches as well as businesses collected food for the Food Pantry.

I feel this is a very needed organization in our county, and I hope it will receive the support of all citizens.

There are many ways the organization can be helped, one is by being a volunteer during the hours of operation, and of course another is by making a contribution of money or food.

Donations can be made by sending them to: Hancock County Food Pantry, P.O. Box 1325, Bay St. Louis, Miss. 39520.

I have noted the beautiful Crepe Myrtle flowers throughout the area in recent weeks.

As many of you know, the Bay-Waveland Garden Club would like to see every lot in our area have at least one Crepe Myrtle tree.

The flowers come during a time of the year when very few others are blooming and they really brighten up the area.

The Garden Club will be again offering Crepe Myrtle trees early next year at a special price to residents through the cooperation of a local nursery.

We hope everyone will try and plant a Crepe Myrtle on their property.

Tuesday, July 1 is scheduled to be a big day for Hancock Countians.

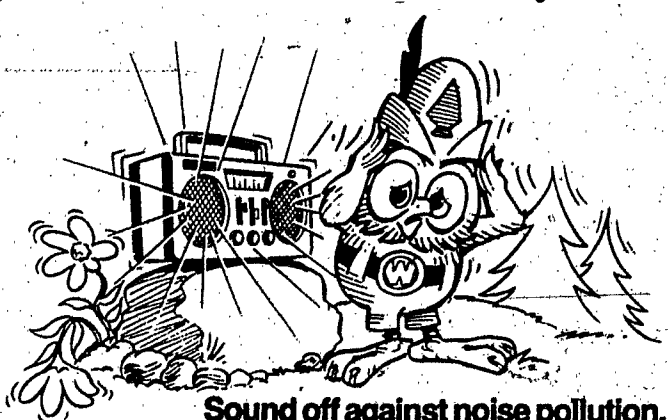

Honorable J. Ruble Griffin will take the oath of office for Mississippi State Supreme Court Justice at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis at 11 a.m.

Judge Griffin won the Democratic nomination for the judgeship which Judge Neville Patterson did not seek re-election for and is resigning the end of this month.

Judge Griffin was appointed last Monday by Governor Bill Allain to fill the unexpired term.

The General election will be in November for the judgeship.

Judge Griffin, a native of Webster County, as the old saying goes, 'found a home' in Hancock County, and will continue as a resident of Bay St. Louis.

NEW COMMUNITY SERVICE—The Hancock County Food Pantry is now in operation. Among the members attending the Community Services Planning Council's meeting Thursday were from left, Leontine C. DeRocha, chief administrator, and Ethel Johnson, with Rev. Vernon Knight, Lutheran Church of the Pines pastor. The Food Pantry's purpose is to provide food to families in emergencies with referrals from the Welfare Department, Board of Health, priests and ministers and organizations. Life was made for living

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

When I was younger—about six decades ago—and living in Poplarville, I was frequently on local entertainment programs. Most popular was my oft repeated recitation with piano background accompaniment titled: "Some Little Bug Is Going To Get You—Some day."

I don't recall all of the words (I got them together, but I forgot where I put them). Anyway, they went something like this: "There is oftentimes a question

In these days of indigestion
As to what to eat and what to leave alone.

For each microbe or bacillus
Has a different way to kill us
And in time it always claims us for its own."

An entertaining recital piece? Yes. But today we don't seem to find it a laughing matter.

Let's take a few examples: Warning: Watch out for calcium. It could cause kidney stones. A good supply is in milk. Maybe you should consider the tasteless 2½ percent. Careful. On the other side of the coin: Be sure to include plenty of calcium in your diet or you will develop brittle bones that are easily broken and when your thigh collapses you'll fall flat on your face, or somewhere. Which route do you want to go?

This could go on all night. But let's take one more for good measure. Vitamin D is found in sunshine. Without it you could be bow-legged with rickets. With it you are a prime candidate for skin cancer. Which? The High Road—or the Low Road? Your choice.

Face it. Be brave. Some little bug will surely get you some day. So why not decide that life was made for living? The Creator put some mighty pretty and pleasant things at our disposal. Most of them are still tax-free. Enjoy.

VICTORY IN THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST NUCLEAR WASTE IN MISSISSIPPI

Mississippians have received the news we have long been awaiting. President Reagan has eliminated the City of Richton as a site for the nation's first nuclear waste repository.

At the same time, he has accepted the recommendation of the Department of Energy and determined that sites in the states of Texas, Washington and Nevada will remain under consideration for the facility which is scheduled to begin construction in 1994.

The President's decision follows almost a decade-long search by DOE for the most suitable sites in the country in which to store nuclear waste.

I have said all along that because of geologic, sociologic and population factors, Mississippi should not be in the final consideration for the site that would be the nuclear waste repository.

I am very pleased then and relieved actually with DOE's decision. I am convinced it was based on scientific considerations. It is evidence that the process as put forth in the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1983 has worked.

That decision-making process was reviewed by the National Academy of Science, a noted group of scientists independent of the federal government, and it was reviewed by agencies of the government including the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. And, of course, the State of Mississippi has kept a close watch over the situation.

Matters of Health

CAUTION WHILE TANNING CAN HELP PREVENT SKIN CANCER

Q. My daughter spends a lot of time in the summer working on her tan. I'm afraid she's asking for trouble. Can too much exposure to the sun cause cancer?

A. Overexposure to the sun does damage the skin, and today's exposure isn't necessarily responsible for all of the harm. The damage may have started in early childhood, and has continued to accumulate—though a single incident of overexposure does harm the skin, the extent of which hasn't been determined.

The skin—the body's largest organ—is continually subjected to external abuse by infections, and irritations from clothing, the weather and airborne chemicals. Internally, the products of normal body functions also affect the skin.

The worst external enemy of the skin, however, is the sun. And, as leisure time increases, people are spending more time in it, pursuing outdoor activities and trying to achieve the deep, dark, tanned look so popular in today's fashions.

For this reason, and because people are living longer, physicians expect to see a greater incidence of skin cancer in the future.

Skin cancer is the most common form of cancer. It's also the easiest to cure if detected and treated early. Prevention, however, is the best approach.

This summer you can prevent the sun from damaging or "poisoning" your skin by taking a few simple precautions.

* Use common sense and avoid overexposure to the sun.

* Wear a sun-screening lotion or cream—and if you have very fair skin—wear a broad-brimmed hat and a long-sleeved shirt.

* Stay out of the sun at midday when its rays are the most intense.

Skin cancer can occur in three major forms. The two most common skin cancers are basal cell cancer, a common but slow-growing malignancy, and squamous cell cancer, which is found less frequently but may spread more rapidly. These cancers usually appear on exposed parts of the body—the arms, neck, face and backs of the hands.

Basal cell and squamous cell cancers are characterized by a pearly, waxy, pearly nodule that ulcerates and crusts, or by small, red, scaly bumps or patches. They usually grow locally and don't spread to other parts of the body.

A third and far more serious form of skin cancer is malignant melanoma, which, while still relatively uncommon, is increasing in incidence.

This form of skin cancer is characterized by a rapidly growing black or dark brown, mole-like spot that may become ulcerated and bleed easily if injured even slightly.

The survival rate for those with malignant melanoma is 70 percent lower than the 99-percent rate for other skin cancer victims—because it spreads so rapidly.

Older people often develop precancers called actinic keratosis, which eventually may become cancerous. Although they're not malignant, these precancers should be examined and treated if they enlarge, before they develop into squamous cell cancers.

A person who has any bump or growth on the skin that changes in size or color, or bleeds persistently should have it examined by a doctor.

The physician will continue to check regularly for other malignant bumps or growths, since anyone who has had one skin cancer is more susceptible to others—and when detected early, skin cancers usually can be cured.

SBA

Small Business Administration

By Charles A. Gillis,
Manager,
Gulfport SBA Office.

Are we, as more economists, sociologists and politicians claim, now living in the "age of the entrepreneur"?

Judged by the number of existing small businesses, by the interest shown in starting a new business, by the number of successful corporate executives quitting their jobs to set out on their own and by the number of business school graduates opting for employment in small companies the answer is a resounding "Yes."

There are a record 15 million small firms in the country today, up about one million in two years. In 1985, new business starts rose a healthy 16 percent over 1984. New business incorporations were up 5 percent.

Many Americans, being basically free spirited, have always felt an ache to be their own bosses. An SBA study says that the recent growth of entrepreneurs results from a number of new factors: prosperous economic conditions, lower tax, interest and inflation rates; higher dissatisfaction with routine wage-and-salary jobs and a desire and necessity to supplement income.

The growth of small businesses has been particularly great among women. The number of women-owned firms has increased in recent years at an annual rate of 9.4 percent, compared to an annual 4.3 percent increase for men-owned firms. Expanded work experience has given more women the training and skills they need to operate on their own.

Also, the introduction of micro-computers and telecommunications have provided women wider opportunities to work out of their homes.

Today's self-employed are older and better educated than wage and salary workers. More than 42 percent of the full-time self-employed and almost 50 percent of the incorporated self-employed are 45 years and older, compared to less than 29 percent of full-time wage-and-salary workers.

However, the average age of the self-employed has dropped in recent years, as more and more younger people have started their own enterprises.

Small businesses continue to make substantial contributions to job creation and retention. Small firms generated most of the net new jobs during the economic downturns from 1979 to 1982, and continue to be the major employer of younger and older workers and of women and veterans. These new small business jobs were created in both traditional and non-traditional industries.

Concurrent with the increase in entrepreneurship has come wider opportunities for present and prospective small business owners to receive the training and counseling needed for success and expansion.

More and more chambers of commerce, corporations, banks and trade organizations are offering a wide variety of training and financing. Such assistance is vital to small business operators, because statistics show that about half of all new small firms will fail within the first five years of operation.

Most new small businesses and many "mom and pop" operators use their own capital in getting started; SBA studies show that between 30 percent and 40 percent of established small firms rely on their own financing. Funds from friends and relatives and loans from commercial banks are the other major sources of capital.

The Small Business Administration has two helpful free publications for persons going into business: "Checklist For Going Into Business" (Management Aid 2.014) and "Thinking About Going Into Business?" (Management Aid 2.025). Both are available at the SBA office located at 1 Hancock Plaza, Suite 1001, Gulfport, MS 39501-7758 or by calling 863-4449.

The 60-volume set of the writings of major American authors being awarded to the Waveland Public Library. The gift of the 60-volume set published in The Library of America was made possible through a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and local donors. The first books to arrive in the local library will be available this summer and new titles will be shipped regularly over the next four years.

American Literature series awarded to Waveland Library

Thanks to the generosity of local citizens and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the Waveland Public Library, a branch of the Hancock County Library System, has been awarded a 60-volume set of The Library of America.

American Heritage magazine called the series "The most ambitious effort ever undertaken to put the best of American literature into the hands of the general reader."

The Waveland Library is receiving the award after submitting an application to the Library of America and obtaining donations as matching funds for the Mellon grant.

Local donors making it possible to receive the grant are: the Hancock Women's Club, Lois Cripple, president; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fitzpatrick of Pass Christian; Mrs. Neil McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. William Hilliker, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Thomas, all of Bay St. Louis; and Mrs. Norvin Penrose, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Malone, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Boulet, all of Waveland.

The library is one of nearly 1,000 across the country that are acquiring this important collection of American literature with funds from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and matching funds pledged in their local communities.

Each $500 raised locally is being matched by $500 from the Mellon Foundation grant as part of a national program to help libraries acquire the Library of America series.

The library will receive the 30 volumes already published in the Library of America and the remaining 30 volumes will be sent in regular shipments over the next four years.

Each volume will have a bookplate acknowledging the generosity of the local donors and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. Certificates will also be sent to the library for display and for presentation to its donors.

The Library of America is a non-profit publishing program that began in 1982 in an unprecedented effort to restore America's literary heritage by publishing the collected works of America's major authors in a uniform, hardcover series.

Seed money for the program was provided by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Ford Foundation. Volumes already published include the works of Henry Adams, James Fenimore Cooper, Stephen Crane, Ralph Waldo Emerson, William Faulkner, Nathaniel Hawthorne, William Dean Howells, Washington Irving, Henry James, Thomas Jefferson, Jack London, Herman Melville, Francis Parkman, Edgar Allan Poe, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Henry David Thoreau, Mark Twain, Edith Wharton and Walt Whitman. Soon to appear in the series are W.E.B. DuBois, Frank Norris, Willa Cather, Flannery O'Connor, William James and Benjamin Franklin.

Each volume in the series includes a number of works by a single author and contains between 1,000 and 1,600 pages. In many cases, an author's complete writings will be published in as few as three or four compact volumes. The books are printed on acid-free paper, have sewn bindings covered in cloth, and are extremely durable. Texts are accurate, unabridged and authoritative.

The Library of America volumes are generally sold through bookstores at $27 to $30 per volume. All volumes in the series include a detailed chronology of the author's

Why not adopt a cat, America's number one pet?

Dog fanciers may bark in protest, but the statistics tell the story. Today in America, cats have taken over the position of "man's best friend," a place once reserved for canines.

According to Cel Dumestre, chairman of the Hancock Animal Commission, there are now more than 50 million cats in U.S. households compared to some 49 million dogs.

Yet despite the upsurge in popularity, a visit to the shelter shows that there are still many lovable but homeless cats and kittens in urgent need of adoption.

Dumestre points out that the perfect time to adopt a feline is June, which happens to be the 12th annual national Adopt-a-Cat Month at his shelter and more than 800 animal shelters throughout the United States and Canada.

The month-long event, sponsored by 9-Lives Cat Food for the American Humane Association, is dedicated to finding good homes for homeless cats and kittens currently available for adoption.

"Spring is the peak breeding season for cats, so the supply of kittens is particularly abundant right now," Dumestre said.

"This is also the time of the year when our animal shelter staff goes out of its way to find just the right feline for the adopting household."

National symbol for the Adopt-a-Cat Month event is Morris, the 9-Lives Cat. Surprisingly, Morris himself was once a stray tabby, who was "discovered" in an East Coast shelter before achieving television commercial stardom.

Morris has been official spokesperson for the Adopt-A-Cat program ever since, a program that is credited with finding homes for more than one million cats.

During June, Hancock Animal Shelter is offering anyone adopting a cat or kitten a kit of adoption materials compliments of 9-Lives, including the Morris Method Book of Cat Care with tips on grooming, health care and nutrition.

Also included is a "paw-tographed" letter from Morris, an official adoption certificate and a supply of 9-Lives cat food coupons.

Hancock Animal Shelter is located on Gulfside Drive in Waveland, and is open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and closed for lunch from 1 to 2 p.m. Fees for adoption are modest.

JUDGE JOSEPH BENVENUTI, Hancock County, is one of several Family Masters in the county appointed by Senior Chancellor John Morris of the Eighth Chancery Court District. He will now hear cases involving the enforcement of child support laws.

Vehicle inspection fee hike effective July 1

JACKSON - Effective July 1, 1986, motor vehicle owners and operators will pay $5 to have their vehicles inspected.

James L. Roberts Jr., commissioner of public safety, said the measure authorizing the increase was passed during the 1986 Session of the Mississippi Legislature and is the first inspection fee increase since 1972.

The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol oversees the issuance of motor vehicle inspection stickers at approximately 1,300 inspection stations throughout the state and enforces guidelines governing the program, Roberts said.

Major Alton Rodgers, director of the Driver Services Bureau of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, said the increase from $2.50 to $5 allows the inspection station owner/operator to retain $3 with the remaining $2 going into the state's general fund.

Prior to the increase, $2 went to the inspection station with 50 cents going into the state's general fund.

"With the inspection station receiving more money the mechanic performing the inspection will be inclined to be more thorough," Rodgers said.

"This will result in more vehicles with faulty or inadequate equipment being denied a sticker. The mechanics are governed by strict guidelines which must be adhered to when they make an inspection," he said.

According to the regulations established for motor vehicle inspection stations, there are 14 areas of review.

The main inspection points are brakes and brake lights, headlights, taillights, steering alignment, tires, windshield wipers, horn, glass, exhaust system, turn signals, shock absorbers and modifications of original equipment.

Authorized inspection stations or mechanics failing to properly inspect these checkpoints can expect disciplinary action to be taken against them by the Motor Vehicle Inspection Branch of the Mississippi

Highway Safety Patrol.

Automobile operators convicted of violating the inspection law because of an invalid inspection sticker may be fined up to $100 plus additional assessment fees.

Rodgers said faulty equipment on automobiles is one of the major contributing factors in motor vehicle accidents throughout the nation.

"We believe that with the inception of this law in Mississippi in 1961, road and highway travel became safer because of the removal of unsafe and inadequately equipped vehicles," Rodgers said.

The Motor Vehicle Inspection Branch issues approximately 1.5-million stickers annually, according to Rodgers.

Rodgers said the Highway Patrol is urging persons who are dissatisfied with the inspection they receive from an authorized station to report it to the Motor Vehicle Inspection Branch in Jackson at 987-1246.

Attorney general's opinion limits use of seawall tax

BY DENA BISNETTE

A state attorney general has decided that the Hancock County Board of Supervisors can not use seawall tax money to pay for a study on a wastewater disposal system for the county.

According to the opinion, which is signed by Assistant Attorney General Samuel W. Keyes Jr., seawall tax funds can be spent only for beach and road protection.

Through special authority granted to the county by the legislature, the seawall tax funds are presently being used to pay off County Port and Harbor bonds used for the construction of Port Bienville Industrial Park.

The opinion states that seawall taxes can be used for construction and maintenance of beaches, shore protection devices and beach roads.

The board had proposed using the available seawall funds to pay off the Port and Harbor bonds and diverting most of the surplus back to the original purpose of the tax.

The beach or road-related purposes proposed for the money included allocations of $77,000 to Gulf Regional Planning Commission to pay matching funds on a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers beachfront repair study; $34,000 to reimburse the county general fund for hurricane repair expenses; and $20,000 to reimburse the city of Waveland for emergency repairs to Beach Road following Hurricanes Elena and Juan.

Also proposed but not related to the beach or road were payments of $53,700 and $43,800 to the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District for design of a sewerage system for the county.

The opinion states in part, "It is the opinion of this office that the proceeds of the 'sea wall tax' must first be directed to meet any deficiency in the bond and interest funds regarding municipal road protection bond issues."

"Any surplus is then to be directed, to the extent needed, to construction, repair and maintenance of road protection pavements, aprons, and related structures. The balance must then be directed into the bond and interest fund..."

"The office is further of the opinion that the language of Section 65-53-47 (Mississippi Code), by implication, prohibits use of such surplus money for any other purpose. Therefore, if the board of supervisors desire to divert any part of the 'sea wall tax' proceeds to other purposes they must acquire the authority to do so via an act of the legislature."

Pass Methodists plan novel auction

The First United Methodist Church of Pass Christian is sponsoring an unusual kind of auction on Sunday, June 29 at 1:30 p.m.

Parcel post packages will be auctioned to the highest bidder just as they come in the mail for the "Parcel Post Sale."

For more than two months members of the church have been writing friends and relatives about this event.

A poem they sent out described some changes in the church from being "an old folks church" for years, and now experiencing a "baby boom."

They asked for a parcel post package "worth at least a dollar" and the proceeds will go towards carpeting the church nursery.

This activity is a project of the Finance Committee of which Mrs. Ruby Pickrell is chairman.

Packages have been received from at least 18 states and from Japan. There will be approximately 100 parcels to be auctioned. The pastor, the Rev. Robert F. Nay, will serve as auctioneer.

The public is invited to "Christmas Shop Early" and join in the fun at the First United Methodist Church in Pass Christian on the afternoon of June 29.

County Agent's Notes

KEEP FORAGE QUALITY HIGH

Frequent rains have created green pastures in Hancock County. That's good, because with high production costs high quality pasture and hay is becoming more important.

Good forage has a high percentage of nutrients for livestock, plus it is readily eaten by animals. It doesn't take much more to produce high quality grazing and hay than it does to produce fair or poor quality.

A lot of factors affect the quality of hay and grazing. Farmers have some control over many of these factors.

The stage of growth is important. The best quality from grasses comes from grazing before seedheads form, and on hay, before mature seedheads develop. Harvest legumes in the bud to early bloom stage.

Summer grasses lose quality as the season progresses even when harvested at the proper growth stage. The first hay clipping or grazing is higher in quality. Cool-season grasses are nearly always higher in quality than warm-season grasses.

The right soil fertility is necessary for healthy plants. Plant foods, especially nitrogen, not only determine yield, but quality to some extent.

Legumes generally are higher in protein than most grasses. Grasses are usually lower in quality, and there is a wide range of quality in each group.

More information on how you can make the most of forage crops is available at the county Extension office.

Good Silage

Crops are still green, but those of you who will be harvesting silage this summer need to be sure to harvest on time for top quality.

One of the most common mistakes many producers make is cutting silage too early for best quality.

When corn or sorghum is cut too early, the moisture content is higher than it should be and the quality is low. Nutrients are lost through drainage from the silo.

The best corn and sorghum silage is harvested at about 35 percent grain moisture and 65 percent whole plant moisture. The grains are mature at 35 percent moisture, and no more dry matter will accumulate.

At this growth stage, the shuck on the corn ear may have started to brown slightly and there is no "milk" in the grain. If you cut through the grain lengthwise, you should see a very thin black layer between the embryo and the end of the grain.

The same holds true for sorghum, but it's much harder to see the black layer. Since the sorghum head matures from the top down, grain at the base of the head matures last. Before harvesting, all of the green color should be gone from the seed at the base of the head and seedcoat color should be developed.

VALUE OF FORESTRY IN STATE

Forest products were the third most valuable agricultural crop in the state in 1985, exceeded only by cotton and poultry.

Forestry is a major agriculture crop in Hancock County, ranking 1st in financial value.

Mississippi's forest industry harvested and delivered over $488 million worth of forest products to yards, mills and processors in 1985.

The 1985 harvest of $488 million was nearly 6 percent lower than the 1984 harvest of $518 million. This decrease was due primarily to a fall in prices and harvest volumes.

In 1985, prices for sawtimber in the county and state were affected by Canadian lumber imports and Southern pine beetle infestations. These factors caused an over supply of softwood lumber which brought prices down.

For more information on timber prices and timber marketing procedures, contact the county agent's office.

The next meeting of the Harrison-Hancock LSA will be July 10 at Holiday Inn Beachfront, 6:30 p.m.

Harrison County Salon No. 218 8 and 40

Harrison County Salon No. 218 of 8 and 40 held its monthly meeting on Friday, June 13 at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Hazel Robinson on Pop's Ferry Road in Biloxi with Chapeau Mrs. Evelyn Burns presiding.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Dr. Esther Oeschmann and all partners gave the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

Then the chaplain, Dr. Esther Oeschmann gave a memorial service for Partner Mert Evans who recently passed away and will be sadly missed by all.

Mrs. Mattie North made a motion to dispense with the regular order of business so we could go on with the election of officers.

Motion passed.

Mrs. North made a motion to re-elect the same officers for the ensuing year. Motion seconded by Mrs. Helen Helm, motion carried.

The officers are Mrs. Evelyn Burns of Waveland, Chapeau; Mrs. Shirley Williams, 1st Demi Chapeau of Waveland; Mrs. Lou Wilkerson; 2nd Demi Chapeau of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Anna Gayout, Secretaire-Cassiere of Bay St. Louis; Dr. Esther Oeschmann, L'Aumonier of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Beatrice Ladner, L'Archiviste; Mrs. Vicky Page, L'Concierge of Ocean Springs.

The partners elected to the Department in July are Mrs. Evelyn Burns, Mrs. Shirley Williams and Mrs. Mattie North. Mrs. North is presently department L'Archiviste. Others who will attend are Mrs. Helen Helm, Dr. Esther Oeschmann, Mrs. Beatrice Ladner, Mrs. Genevieve Cole, Mrs. Vicky Page, Miss Sis Wescovich, Mrs. Bernice Esche, Mrs. Hazel Robinson, who are all past department Chapeaux. Mrs. Mattie North was recognized as the newly elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary No. 139 of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Shirley Williams as newly elected district president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Everyone thanked Mrs. Hazel Robinson for inviting us to her lovely home for our meeting. She was indeed a gracious hostess. A very lovely and tasty buffet supper was enjoyed by all. Other hostesses who helped were Mrs. Helen Helms, Mrs. Bernice Quave, Mrs. Bernice Esche and Mrs. Philomena Ramsey.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Shirley Williams and was donated by Mrs. Lou Wilkerson.

The installation of officers will be held the first Friday in August at the Western Sizzler on Courthouse Road in Gulfport at 6:30 p.m.

The partners may invite their husbands and all widows may invite a friend. Come one, come all for fun and fellowship as well as service.

Some of you who read this article may wonder what is 8 and 40. It is a subsidiary organization of the American Legion Auxiliary. It was first organized by a number of leading auxiliary women including the first national president and the first national secretary of the American Legion Auxiliary at a meeting of the auxiliary's national executive committee in Indianapolis, Ind. in June 1922.

The first Marche National was held in New Orleans, La. that same year. Recognition of 8 and 40 as an affiliated organization was granted by the American Legion and then granted by the American Legion Auxiliary at a special meeting to be ratified at the Paris convention in October, 1927 and as a subsidiary organization by the national executive committee in January 1933.

The objectives of the 8 and 40 are fun, fellowship and service. This service is to assist in the prevention and control of tuberculosis, cystic fibrosis and other respiratory diseases in children.

We of the 8 and 40 work all year for America's children in many ways. We have come to realize that America offers her future generation so much because of organizations like the 8 and 40 and the American Legion Auxiliary. Thought for this month is:

"Go forth radiating light, truth, peace, harmony and joy to all. Above all, hold unfailing your love for one another and practice fellowship to all.
